Judge Jackson Dead--Judge Morrow's Lyon County Prospects--Sims' in a Can--Hot City Election.

EDDYVILLE, KY., Aug. 10, '95.--To the Democrats of Lyon county. I see and read a great many things about the circuit judge's race as between Judge Linn and Judge Morrow; who this county will give a majority and who that county will give a majority, and especially old Lyon county. I have been a pretty close observer of the Democracy of Lyon county since Hon. Thos. J. Morrow received the requisite number of votes in convention assembled at at Eddyville, Ky., on July 11th, 1895, to nominate a candidate for circuit judge of this judicial district, but alas, as is too often the case, was counted out.

I am here to say to you, stand to Judge Morrow, go to the polls on the 31st of Aug., every mother's son of you, cast your vote for Judge Morrow and against rings, cliques and combinations. I am here to say to you that Judge Morrow will carry Lyon county by a handsome majority. He will carry it by the vote of the horny-handed Democrats of the county. The mechanics are for him, the farmers are for him. He is not backed by any ring, clique, or combination in this county. We know Tom Morrow, we know that he was raised on a farm; we know he will make us a good judge, and by the eternal we will elect him. We are for him because he won the nomination and deserves it. We are for him because he is a Democrat. We are for him because he is an honest, upright citizen, lawyer and farmer, and can beat any Republican in this district.

We are not for Judge Linn because he is backed by all the rings, cliques and combinations and banks in Lyon county. We have our court house ring and clique headed by a small knobby-headed editor. In its own estimation as broad as a Tammany Tiger. We have corporations, penitentiary and two banks in our county backing Judge Linn.

Democrats, what are you fighting? Is it not rings and cliques? Is it not combinations and monopolies? Must we sit still and let such corporations as the penitentiary gang and 16 or 18 state hirelings at the penitentiary shape our political destinies for us and dictate to us who we shall vote for? No, our answer on the 31st day of August must be no. They have no interest in common with us. In twelve months they will be scattered to the four winds of the earth.

Judge Linn is a nice, clever gentleman and personally we like him, but we see Calloway county nothing. She has never shown Lyon county any favors, she has always refused to support a Lyon county man. If we remember right, at one time several years ago, we let such corporations as the penitentiary gang and 16 or 18 state hirelings at the penitentiary shape our political destinies for us and dictate to us who we shall vote for? No, our answer on the 31st day of August must be no. They have no interest in common with us. In twelve months they will be scattered to the four winds of the earth.

SIMMS' EASY WINNER.

In the senatorial primary in the Trigg district Col. Fenton Sims won an easy victory, notwithstanding the fact that Livingston cast nearly all of its vote for Judge Thos. P. Cook, although he was not a candidate. This was intended as a personal compliment from the friends of Congressmen Hendricks for Judge Cook's support in 1894. The vote by counties was as follows:

County	Sims	Williams	Cook
Lyon	286	52	482
Livingston	28	286	482
Trigg	612	48	482
Total	1026	487	482

JUDGE JACKSON DEAD.

The Trip to Washington Hastened the End But the Great Jurist Had Not Reached His End. JACKSON, TENN., Aug. 8.--The Hon. Howell Edmunds Jackson, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, died at his residence at West Meade, six miles west of this city at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in the 64th year of his age.

Judge Jackson had been in failing health for the past four years, but it has been only in the past eight or nine months that the progress of disease began to cause his family and friends uneasiness. Last year he went on a lengthy trip to the far West in search of health. Later he went to Thomasville, Ga., where it was hoped the mild and yet bracing climate would restore his one-time vigorous constitution. The trip did him little good, and after time he was brought home. At his old home, and surrounded by the scenes he loved so well Judge Jackson seemed to improve steadily until he went to Washington to sit in the second hearing of the income tax cases. He stood that trying trip only fairly well, and after his return home appeared to lose strength rapidly. Nevertheless, Judge Jackson never took to his bed until last Wednesday week. Since that time his family and friends realized that the end was near, and his death yesterday was not unexpected.

Judge Jackson was twice married, the first time to Miss Sophia Malloy, daughter of David E. Malloy, a banker, of Memphis, who died in 1873. To this union were born four children, as follows: Henry, Mary, William H. and Howell Jackson. Henry Jackson is at present Soliciting Freight Agent of the Southern Railway, with headquarters at Atlanta. W. H. Jackson, Jr., is District Attorney of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway at Cincinnati.

Howell E. Jackson is manager of the Jackson Cotton Mills at Jackson, Tenn. In 1876 Judge Jackson married Miss Mary E. Harding, daughter of the late Gen. Wm. G. Harding. Of this union three children survive--Misses Elizabeth and Louise Jackson and Harding L. Jackson. With the exception of Miss Elizabeth Jackson and Wm. H. Jackson, Jr., who are in Europe, the children were at the bedside when the distinguished sufferer passed away.

The news of Judge Jackson's death caused general sorrow in the city where he was so well known and admired. The arrangements for the funeral have not been fully completed, but it is known that it will take place next Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Judge Jackson was elected to the lower house of the Forty-second General Assembly from Madison County in 1880, and by that assembly elected to the United States Senate. On the 12th of April, 1886, he was nominated by President Cleveland to be Circuit Judge of the United States for the Sixth Judicial Circuit, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of the Hon. John Baxter.

On Feb. 2, 1894 Judge Jackson was nominated by President Harrison to be Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, vice L. Q. C. Lamar, deceased.

FOR CHARITY

A Grand Entertainment--The Kirmess. Aug. 19 and 20.

Misses Rousseau and Blocker, who came with high testimonials, the former a graduate of the Delasarte school and are now rehearsing for the Kirmess to be given at the Opera house, Aug. 19th and 20th, have made a most generous offer, which will allow the charity treasury to be increased with little or no trouble beyond those who take an active part--the patronage of the public being the main point. This however is assured, if one may judge by past proofs of their liberality in such respect.

These young ladies have been giving the Kirmess in various towns in Kentucky and Texas, meeting with marked success, but anxious to establish this style of entertainment they occasionally give a worthy cause the advantage of personal sacrifice, which is the case in their proffer to present the Kirmess here for the benefit of charity. Miss Emily B. Perry and Miss Georgia Flack recognizing this saw an opportunity to add to the charity fund and have consented to be their aid to Misses Rousseau and Blocker, and with such a combination there is no reason to anticipate only a most attractive entertainment. The program is made up of numerous special features, consisting of marches, drills, dances, exhibiting national characteristics and songs. All serving to make the performance both unique and entertaining.

The stately minuet will be presented by eight prominent young ladies and gentlemen in colonial costume. The Kirmess is often compared to a trip around the world, because of the different nations being minutely represented in their style of dress and entertainment. As such unusual offer is made to lend aid to the needy, will not every one evince appreciation by giving these young ladies "standing room only" at the opera house Monday and Tuesday nights, Aug. 19th and 20th. Price of admission 50 cents, with no extra charge for reserved seats. Tickets will be on sale at Galbreath's on Thursday.

A HOT CITY ELECTION.

The Contests for Councilmen Will be Settled Tomorrow.

The Democratic nominations for city councilmen in six of the wards of Hopkinsville will be made tomorrow in a primary election between the hours of 8 a. m. and 4 p. m. In some wards there will be close and doubtful contests, while in others the result is clearly foreshadowed. In the first ward Councilman Holland is a candidate for re-election and the ward seems to be well satisfied with him. There have been some efforts to get out another candidate, and it is said Dr. J. M. Dennis, who is absent in Virginia, will be voted for by those opposed to Mr. Holland.

In the second, Councilman Forbes is opposed by Mr. J. D. Ware and a hot contest is on between them. In the third, Councilman Steele and Mr. Dennis R. Perry are having a lively race with the excitement getting to a white heat.

In the fourth there seems to be but little opposition to Councilman Dalton. Nearly all of the voters have signed a call upon him, but there is some talk of an opposing man being put out against him, but who it will be could not be learned yesterday.

The fifth is the Republican stronghold and no candidates are after the nomination in that ward.

In the sixth, castles were circulated last week upon several gentlemen to run against Councilman Flack, but the opposition finally centered on Mr. Harry Hopper and the race will be run out between them.

In the 7th, Councilman Pool has two opponents, Mr. W. J. Withers from his own end of the ward and Esq. Alex Campbell of the North end. There are 18 voters on North Main street who met and endorsed Mr. Campbell and asked both the other candidates to let them have the councilman, but this was not agreed to and the contest will be fought out at the polls.

It is likely that in some of the wards the old members will be defeated, though a majority of them are pretty certain to pull through.

The Letter Carrier's Association of the United States, which numbers fourteen thousand members, has asked that Wednesday, November 20, be set aside as their special day at the Cotton States and International Exposition. It is probable that on that date nearly two thousand letter carriers from over the Union will visit the Exposition.

All danger in the Indian country has passed.

Aquatic Sports Are Very Popular with Washingtonians.

Sturdy Men and Beautiful Women by the Score Seek Recreation on the Bosom of the Potomac After Their Day's Work.

Special Weather Letter.

Bravely and bravely adorn the bosom of the Potomac every evening, for in the cool of the twilight and dusk the yachtsmen, the women and the canoeists are boating upon the river for sport and recreation; and every young man has his best girl with him. There is a great deal more interest than usual this year in rowing, and the light little yachting parties are being given by the various boating perished in his attentions, and she yielded to his entreaties. They went boating. As they left the little wharf at the boathouse, the boat's crew was heard to remark: "We will set the day for our wedding before we get back." She retorted: "Then we will never get back."

They never came back alive. Whether there was a final and irrevocable quarrel or not is not conjectured. As they were coming through the narrow passage between the stone piers of the bridge the boat capsized. He was an excellent swimmer. There was not enough water in the Potomac to drown him, unless he was seized with a cramp and that was not likely, for the water was warm. She sank and so did he, before the rescuers could reach them. The distance from the boathouses was such that no rescuer could possibly reach them in time to save them. The little boat went floating down the stream. It was overturned, but would have sustained both with ease, if they had clung to it. One of her wrists was badly bruised, though it had been wrenched from the boat. Her fingers were also bruised and the skin upon them broken. It is generally supposed that he deliberately capsized the boat, wrenched the fair hand of the woman he loved from his grasp upon the boat, and thus drowned her. That having been accomplished it is believed that he deliberately permitted himself to sink with her. When their bodies were found his arm encircled her waist. She would not leave him, but they died together.

There is an octette in the river which takes nightly rides on the Potomac. They row far above the Aqueduct bridge, and then float down past the boathouses singing songs which float over the placid waters and are echoed from hill to hill, in chorus sweet and clear. All of them are young men and members of the choir of one of our leading churches. They sing matches from opera, popular ballads and Georgian chants. One Saturday evening they gave a rehearsal of all the music which was to be rendered in church on the morrow, and it was indescribably delightful. Their basso profundo sang the part of the king, in the cantata of Esther, and the tenor sang the songs of Mordecai. The song "More Wine" by the king, was much interesting, coming as it did over the waters, rather than any of the organ-like intonations of Whitney or Root.

It is not a common rumble for these young gentlemen and their lady clubs. Upon the upper banks of the Potomac, near Georgetown, the club houses of the Columbia, the Potomac and the Annapolis are beautifully situated, and beyond them, toward the Aqueduct bridge, boating houses for the benefit of the general public are very well patronized. The Potomac boatmen long since learned that the best boats were the most attractive and would, if kept in readiness for general use, increase the profits of their business; and consequently the most approved styles of rowboats can be found at all of the boat houses. These boats are fitted with the latest appliances and can be rented by the hour or by the day for practically a nominal sum. The attendants are usually affable and courteous persons who cheerfully give their patrons all necessary advice and instruction for their pleasure and safety. Moreover the principal reason for the enjoyment of this sport is that the Americans have invented many varieties of small boats which are absolutely safe and as comfortable as they can possibly be. They are as safe as the same time so light and easy of propulsion that even a child can send them racing over the water at a pretty good rate, and they are as safe as life preservers and as graceful as swans.

Rowing is claimed to be one of the most healthful of sports, because when one rows properly almost every muscle is brought into play. The regular and necessary motions strengthen the back, harden the limbs, and when one returns to the arms are brought into active play, and accordingly strengthened. The general physical condition is thus made more healthy, and one is able to resist the fatiguing and lassitudinous heat of the summer can be the better withstood. There is danger, however, in this climate, when one returns to a row up the river with the skin aglow, as a result of the exercise which has been taken, that, sitting on the cool verandas or bedrooms of one's home, a severe cold may be taken. Indeed, some of our young men have thus carelessly stepped from robust health and strength into incurable disease. Toweling and massage should always follow a row-boat excursion.

In the early part of every season our brawny young men have blisters on their hands and well-browned faces; the blistered hands come from the oars, the browned arms and bronzed faces are caused by rays of the sun; but bravely and bravely together, and the blistering and burning are cheerfully endured because of the influence which they may have upon the mind of beauty, by inducing her to believe that her swain is a gallant and hardy young man. Many a Pyramus and Thisbe learn lessons of Cupid on the river.

There is no better place on earth than upon the broad, smooth waters of the Potomac for boating, rowing and sailing. In every way that nature could aid it the Potomac was perfect in the prehistoric days as a resort for lovers of aquatic sports. It is perfectly safe for the most frail craft to venture upon its bosom, because land breezes seldom ruffle it, and its current is so light that any able-bodied man or woman can easily row against it. The wooded shores of the upper Potomac are close to the city, and the stream flows between the historic hills of Virginia and the Palisades of Georgetown; so that it cannot be surprised in picturesque scenery by any river in the world. The shores upon either hand present landscape subjects which the greatest of artists might be proud to be able to transfer to canvas. It is not a narrow body of water, but big enough for all; and it is unusually safe, because there are no rocks for a boat to run upon, save those bowlers, the Three Sisters, which are in plain sight, rearing their crests far above the water at high tide. The lonely ledges above Aqueduct bridge can be seen for a mile or more, and they are therefore not dangerous. The shores are sloping upwards so that landings can be easily and safely effected.

Moonlight rides upon the river are sometimes very exciting, and tragedies have occurred which have never been explained. On one occasion the son of a senator went rowing with a beautiful widow. It was rumored they were to be married. The lady denied the report to her friends. She even declared that she would never again receive the visits of the young gentleman. But he

TELEPHONING THE MOON.

Electrician Holds That It Will Be Accomplished by Ether Vibration.

Both Edison in America and Preece in England have long maintained that it is possible to establish on the earth a record of the electrical disturbances that take place on the sun. An electrician now holds that it is easily feasible to telephone to the moon. He bases his belief in the possibility of this communication on the well-known laws of ether vibration. The ocean of ether quivers to every touch. It binds the planets together with an iron hand, flexible yet firm, solid yet infinitely elastic. It is the ideal medium for the transmission of signals. When it moves, even to an extent inconceivably small, our sight is affected; we see. These ether waves are eight minutes coming to us from the sun, traveling at the enormous velocity of one hundred and ninety-two thousand miles a second. It is possible to produce waves moving at this terrific speed by electrical means, as, for instance, in the telephone, which is actuated by infinitely small pulsations. When an iron mass is in the vicinity of these electrical vibrations a buzz or hum is given out. This noise may be distinctly heard in some systems of street lighting apparatus, where the current is transformed from a high to a low pressure. In accordance with this principle it is supposed to send electrical pulsations far out into the ether and have them act upon any metallic mass like iron with sufficient force to produce sound. If the moon contained iron, and this reason to believe that it does, the striking upon it of these marvelous vibrations would give rise to a murmur of sound. It is suggested that this experiment could be carried out by means of a gigantic coil mounted vertically with its axis in line with the moon.

A RABBIT PARLIAMENT.

The Profile Animal Battles Law and Science.

A rabbit parliament was held in Australia. This was not a convention of the animals, but a great gathering of gentlemen who are engaged in their extermination. For four days, says the Philadelphia Record, representatives from every part of the colony held high debate over the animal's performances. But acts of parliament seem vain in this matter and science itself bankrupt. The New South Wales government at one period had more than three thousand men employed in killing rabbits. It has erected fifteen thousand miles of rabbit-proof fencing. It once offered twenty-five thousand pounds sterling for a specific against rabbits, and though it received two thousand schemes, the too prolific bunny has triumphed over them all, and at the present moment the land department of New South Wales has one million acres of abandoned land, thrown up in consequence of the reckless march of the rabbit.

The rabbit parliament seems to have failed to produce any clear and striking results. A score of "infallible" specific remedies have been tested, slaughter, but their advocates, but about these doleful experiments the delegates shake their heads. If the rabbit could be taxed into a profitable export the question would be solved, but this seems out of the question. The policy favored by the conference is that of "prudent extermination" only with rabbit-proof fences, transferring the duty of suppressing the rabbit from the state to private land-owners, and giving the landowner the possible help in carrying on the campaign against his furry and four-legged foe.

OLD WORLD AND NEW.

Asia Stands Still While Europe and America Push Forward.

The common phrases, the old world and the new world, have gained an application which would hardly have been given them had men known in the past what they know now, that America is, geologically considered, probably the oldest of the continents and that man perhaps inhabited the western hemisphere as early as he did the eastern. In view of this fact, says Lippincott's Magazine, it might not be amiss to suggest a different application of these phrases by giving to Asia the title of the old world and to Europe and America that of the new world, leaving the remaining sections of the earth to fit into the division to which they logically belong.

For Asia is the static realm of mankind; Europe and America are the dynamic. Asia is at rest with the dead past; Europe and America are pushing forward into the living future. Asia, in its political conditions, its religions, its learning and its literature, its science and industry, remains in close touch with the world of three thousand years ago; Europe and America in all these conditions have left the old world ages behind them and are building for themselves a new world vastly distinct from that of ancient days.

He Will Succeed.

Like his brother of the north, the southern small boy is capable of much. A writer in the New York Home Journal says that upon her arrival in a southern town her cabman was a small boy, aged about nine. The cab had two seats, and the boy told her that if during her stay she wanted a carriage, she could get him any time by inquiring for Jackson's express—price six bits an hour.

"Are you Jackson?" I asked. "Yes, ma'am," said the expressman, politely, and with great dignity. Then, lapsing into boyishness, he added: "You see, this used to be our carriage. But papa died, and mamma isn't strong—sent them a much money—and—Something certainly didn't the boy's throat, for his voice broke, and, hastily becoming a cabman again, he tightened the reins and indulged in a flourish of the whip. But after a little he turned about and added:

"It's a real comfort, I think, to earn your living."

Mlle. Augustine Brohan, the celebrated French comedienne, who was so humane to all animals, one day at table found a fly caught on her plate. She took it up tenderly with her thumb and finger and called her maid. "Marie," she said, "take this fly—be careful, now, don't hurt him—and put him outdoors." The girl took the fly and went away, but presently Mlle. Brohan saw her standing near with a troubled expression on her face. "What, Marie," she said, "did you do as I told you?" "No, mademoiselle, I've got the fly still! I couldn't venture to put him outdoors—it was raining, and he might have taken cold."

ELABORATE CEREMONY.

Description of the Baptism of the Son of a Czar.

Anointed with Oil Brought from Constantinople—Dresses of the Godmothers—The Child Dons Its First Shoes.

The young czarina of Russia is superintending just now the preparation of a layets, and all the world is interested in its expected completion of an heir to the Russian throne.

Elaborate ceremonies always surround the birth of a royal child in Russia, perhaps more conspicuously than elsewhere. The christening, according to the ritual in the Greek church, must take place as soon as possible after the birth. The baby's christening robes says the New York Sun, are marvels of the needleworker's art. The first godfather, who is always a high and mighty person, gives the child a cross and a small white shirt which is used before the ceremony is completed. The occasion requires gifts from all persons connected with the court. These gifts are often the toys most likely to amuse a tiny infant, although many are suitable for a grown child. Other gifts may be lands or jewels.

At the christening the child is carried in the arms of its godmother to the church or chapel. A crowd of royalty and nobility, glittering in brilliant uniforms and gala toilets, all the bells of the church and stand grouped round the font. The priests wear magnificent robes with gold crosses, and sacred banners are borne before them. Two deacons carry a portrait of Christ or the Virgin Mary.

The godfathers give the priest nine candles, which are lighted and add incense the godfathers and godmothers and consecrate the water with many ceremonies. The priest then takes the child to the font, where he takes the child in his arms, and the priest puts the paper on an image which he holds on the child's breast, meanwhile saying a prayer. When the priest says if the child fears, the devil and his works, the godparents turn their backs to the font to show their horror and aversion to the question, and answer "Yes." They again face the font, and the priest takes the child, which is quite naked, and holding it by the head, he says his thumb and finger stop the candles. It is three times in the water, pronouncing the words: "I baptize thee in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost."

The christening, or baptismal unction, which is called the seal of the gift of the Holy Ghost, immediately follows baptism. In performing this ceremony the priest anoints the child with holy oil, on the eyes, in order that it may see only good on the ears, that these may admit only what is pure on the mouth, that it may speak as becomes a Christian; on the hand, that it may do no wrong, and on the feet, that it may tread only on the paths of virtue. At the end of this ceremony the shirt, which the godmother has provided, is put on the child by the priest. The priest says: "Thou art clean and as clear from original sin as this shirt; thou art baptized, thou art sanctified, thou art given the name of the Trinity." The cross, which has been given by the godfather, the child is under obligations to wear all its life. If this cross be not found upon the child at death, the priest says to the godparents, the child may not have Christian burial, even though he be the son of a hundred kings. A parchment is also assigned to the child, whose image he is charged to cherish with special devotion.

Oil, or chrism, which is used at royal baptisms, coronation, and consecration of churches, is prepared with elaborate ceremony. There is a copper vessel, overlaid with gold and called the alabastrer, in which is kept the original oil sent from Constantinople, which Christianity was introduced into Russia. A few drops are taken to prepare the chrism and are replaced with other oil, so the quantity never decreases. Wine, roses, lavender, balsams and spices are mixed with the oil.

Forty days after the birth of the child, its mother, the empress, is crowned, and the infant is received visibly into the church by the giving of its first sacrament. When the royal gates are opened during mass, the deacon appears with the christening robe, which is carried to the steps, and the baby, coming forward, puts a drop of wine into its mouth with a spoon, saying: "The sacrament of God, consecrated in the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost."

On the day the child dons its first shoes the czarina gives 800 or 400 pairs of shoes to be distributed among the poor children of St. Petersburg. These are ordinary shoes, of course, not a bit like the royal baby's shoes, embroidered with gold.

QUEER JERSEY OWLS.

Said to Be the First of Their Kind Found in This Country.

Two owls were captured in New Jersey a few weeks ago which are both bird experts. According to Robert Rae, of Newark, who has been studying birds for nearly forty years, they are the first of their kind found in this country. He visited the Museum of Natural History in New York, but failed to find other specimens like them or a description that fitted them. The bird that resembles them most closely is the hawk or Arctic owl (Barnia ulula).

The two owls, according to the New York Sun, were captured by a man living at Jackson, N. J., late in April. While hunting in the swamps near his house, he dog routed out the owls from under a bush. The birds promptly made a savage attack on the disturber of their peace and were getting the best of the battle when the owner of the dog interfered with a club. It was not until he had beaten them into insensibility that they gave up the fight.

The birds, which are male and female, measure seventeen inches from the top of the head to the tip of the tail, and thirty-two inches from the tip of their wings. The feathers are of a peculiar downy nature, like those of very young birds. The wings and back are barred with white and black, the white stripes presenting a mottled appearance. The breast is of a peculiar cream yellow, and the feathers are very thick. The head is small for the body and the legs and feet are thickly feathered to the toes. Unlike the majority of owls, they slept at night and were active in the daytime. Their habits and their general characteristics, except for their marking, closely resemble those of the hairy owl.

Hawk owls are found in the polar regions of North America and Asia, but are extremely rare south of the Canadian line, and have been found in the states only after severe winters. The hawk is from fifteen to seventeen inches in length, with a comparatively small head and light yellow beak. Its plumage, which is thicker than that of the majority of owls, is of a dark spotted brown above and light striped white below. The feathers are fringed with delicate downy filaments. There are no visible ears, and the legs are feathered to the toes. Like the owls captured at Jackson, they are said to be very intelligent, often attacking animals twice its size. It searches for its food during the day, and sleeps at night. Contrary to the usual custom of owls, it builds its nest near the summit of a tall tree, instead of in a hollow in the trunk or among the branches. Its flight is swift, and it frequently follows and overtakes flocks of smaller birds.

STRANGE ACCIDENT.

How the Sun Fired Off a Gun and Killed a Man.

The story runs that a man was found lying dead upon a coal mine life-laying being decapitated by a bullet discharged from a gun lying near. The circumstances of the matter positively proved that the man could not have been one of suicide, and, therefore, the only alternative which could be reasonably suggested was that he had been murdered. An acquaintance was charged with the crime, but absolute proof of the fact was not forthcoming. One of the parties engaged in the case was so far interested in the peculiar facts of the death as to seek a different solution to the mystery of the case. He was a popular belief. The result of his observation and deduction was very curious. The rays of the sun had vibrated in at the window of the apartment in which the man had encountered his end, and had been concentrated directly upon the explosive chamber of the gun, by which sufficient heat had been engendered to warm the cap and powder, and cause a discharge. The gun having been fired inartfully placed in the window of the apartment in which the man had encountered his end, and he lay placidly sleeping, no doubt meeting with instant death.

Unaccountable Quirkness.

The incident which is taken by the flash light is illustrated by the fact that Lord Raleigh has succeeded in photographing the bubbles of a soap bubble, a process which occupies between the two-hundredth and three-hundredth part of a second.

HIS KINGDOM GRABBED.

Baron Harden-Hickey's Island Occupied by England.

Was Queen Victoria Jealous of the Baron's Success as a Monarch and Colonizer?—Rites and Fall of the Kingdom of Hickey.

There are well-defined rumors floating around in diplomatic and other circles that the home-made island kingdom of Baron Harden-Hickey, away down in the South Atlantic ocean, has been grabbed up by England, says the New York Herald.

The rumor does not state whether or not a battle was fought, and nothing whatever has been heard of King Hickey's standing army, whose name is said to have been Jones. It is possible that the standing army took to its heels in the face of the tremendous naval demonstration which England always makes when she confiscates little kingdoms. At any rate, the story is that the kingdom of Hickey is no more, and that the royal cross of St. George floats over the island.

By all the laws of nations the kingdom of Hickey should still belong to Hickey. He said it first. He planted his flag there a year ago and proclaimed himself monarch of all in sight, whether approved or unapproved.

Does England want the kingdom for a coaling station or is she jealous? Here is the history of the kingdom of Hickey. You can read it and form your own opinion.

In the first place, Baron James A. Harden-Hickey is a son-in-law of the Standard Oil millionaire, John D. Rockefeller. He was born in California forty-one years ago, has been a Parisian editor, was exiled from France on account of a bad cartoon, and came to the United States.

It was on one of his many voyages that the baron discovered his future kingdom. He took a map of the world and ran his finger across the equator into the South Atlantic ocean. There, in latitude 30 degrees 30 minutes and longitude 30 degrees 30 minutes west, you will find a speck not quite the size of a pinhead and labeled with "Trinidad." There were no inhabitants when Hickey discovered the island, and, consequently, no laws. The baron said to himself: "Lo! I will start a kingdom on my own account."

Accordingly, Baron Harden-Hickey came to the United States and began to formulate his plans. In the spring of last year the baron raised his flag and proclaimed himself ruler of the island of Trinidad. His agents in the United States began to rally recruits around the royal standard. Currency and postage stamps were printed, laws were made and a navy was secured in the shape of a rolling and bowling oil bark, which when not employed in the defense of Trinidad's solitary port, carried the mails over to Brazil.

It was a halcyon sort of an existence. The royal subjects did not have much to do except sail. No ships but those in distress ever stopped there. Those that stopped were more distressed than ever over the circumstance. King Hickey was anxious to be a Britisher, and he tried to pattern the kingdom on the principles of the game of Go. He instituted the "Order of Chevaliers" for his subjects, and ordered a supply of gray golden crosses, with which to recompense letters, arts, science and industries. There were not many letters to recompense. They came about once every two months from the mainland. As for arts, there was very little to be offered, except the art of digging bait and prospecting for turtles' eggs. Science was at a like discount, and as for letters, there was very little to be offered, except the art of digging bait and prospecting for turtles' eggs. Science was at a like discount, and as for letters, there was very little to be offered, except the art of digging bait and prospecting for turtles' eggs.

The next news from the little kingdom of Hickey will be awaited with anxious interest by many people in New York, and the work of procuring recruits for the self-styled king which has been going on in this city will be stopped until some definite information is received.

Add to his monarchical undertaking, Baron Harden-Hickey is a most interesting person. He is a descendant of one of the families that fled with the Stuart to France. He is something of a rover. During his life he has been poet, novelist, journalist, duelist, soldier and sailor. He has felt the pangs of poverty, though at present he is very wealthy. He was educated in the college of Jesuits at Namur, Belgium, and afterward at the University of Paris.

Three years ago, while in New York, he met and married Miss Annie Flagler. It is probable that England, if she has really taken the island, bases her claim on a previous colonization which occurred over a hundred years ago.

For Sup't. of Public Instruction,

ED. PORTER THOMPSON, of Owen.

For Commissioner of Agriculture,

JOHN B. NALL, of Louisville.

For Railroad Commissioners,

J. FLETCHER DEMPSEY, of Hopkins.

GEO. H. ALEXANDER, of Jefferson.

GREEN R. KELLAR, of Nicholas.

For Magistrate Pembroke District,

WM. L. PARKER.

Judicial primary election Saturday August 31, in all the voting precincts. Keep the date well in mind and tall up votes for Judge Morrow.

The Hardin-Bradley debate Aug. 23 will have to be at the fair grounds, if the crowd overflows the court house. The tabernacle cannot be secured and the grand stand at the fair grounds is about the only chance left to seat 2000 or 3000 people.

W. H. Ragland was nominated for representative in Jefferson county over three candidates in the first ballot. A single gold standard resolution was tabled by 46 to 16 and the nominee was not interested in the senatorial race. His opponents all announced themselves against Blackburn while Ragland refused to commit himself.

A Paducah dispatch says: "Out of fourteen senators and legislators from the First congressional district, Blackburn will receive twelve votes. Col. H. H. Hobson, a staunch advocate of silver at 16 to 1, will elect representative without opposition. The McCracken goldbugs have surrendered the fight, as the county is against them."

A Jefferson county convention of Democrats voted down a goldbug interpretation of the party platform Saturday by 45 to 16 and tabled an endorsement of Cleveland and Carlisle by the same vote. A reference to the map of Kentucky will show that Jefferson is the county in which Louisville is situated.

With all their boisterous claims, the Linn followers in this county have not made any serious inroads into Judge Morrow's vote, unless people talk one way and vote another. In only one precinct in the county is the opposition at all formidable and a few men are doing all of the Linn talking in that one. In this city where Linn was supposed to be strongest, the feeling for the home candidate is growing stronger all of the time. The Linn men concede Morrow a majority of 1000, but it will be nearer 1,500 in the county.

The following editorial from that staunch gold standard paper, the New York Tribune, will give an idea of the prosperous condition of the people of Germany under the gold standard:

"Berlin is eaten up by usury, and they are trying the most flagrant usurers and sending them to jail in squealed prisons. But they are too numerous to be uprooted altogether and hold a strong grasp on all classes there. Although the country is so prosperous and powerful, it is really poor. The income of the aristocracy are hardly ever up to their needs and pretensions, and for the other orders of society they have a constant struggle to pay their taxes and make ends meet. The country has economic, industrial and social perils to encounter, as well as the menace of outside armies and alliances. But Europe generally is in a like condition—morgaged to money lenders, crushed down with war taxes, infiltrated with feudal ideas, impelling large numbers of the most expensive sort of people to try to live without earning anything. Time will enforce some sort of corrective, but in the meantime the situation is oppressive, bringing grief mainly to the usurer and his kind, and plunging the rest of society into deeper and deeper difficulties. The happiest children of the fatherland are those who have emigrated, especially those who have come hither, embracing the protection of the single-headed Republican eagle instead of the double-headed Imperial one."

Joe Blackburn is still getting votes at the ratio of about 16 to 1.

W. I. Babb has been nominated for Governor of Iowa by the Democrats.

The Russellville Herald has put on a new dress and is greatly improved in appearance.

Hon. A. C. Tompkins, who will be the democratic nominee in the Owensboro district, has come out in a card declaring for Blackburn. The primary will be this week.

The President now has another opportunity to appoint his secretary of the treasury to the supreme bench, a position he is fitted by nature to adorn. As a financier Mr. Carlisle has been a failure, but he would make a great judge.

United States Minister Jas. A. McKenzie, will sail from Peru today and will arrive in this country in about a month, to remain for some time on a leave of absence. His friends who have not seen him for two years; will accord him a cordial welcome.

In Union County three candidates are running for the legislature, two of them for silver and the other against it. The silver men should at once get one of the bimetallics out and not permit a goldbug to slip in, as happened in Ballard county the other day.

The first district papers are giving Congressman Hendrick the grand guy over the fact that the legislative district in which he lives has just nominated a free silver man for representative. This in the face of the fact that Mr. Hendrick recently stated in an interview that there were not many silver men in his part of the county.

Afflicted for Years.

Mr. R. B. Goodman, Marietta, Ga., says: "I was troubled with rheumatism, which the doctors called sciatica, for a number of years, doctoring with everything I could hear of, with no benefit until I commenced with Dr. King's Royal Germetum, which cured me sound and well. I was at times, for several months, so I could not walk at all. I have now been thoroughly well off for four years, and think there is no medicine that can equal Germetum." Judge T. J. Morrow.
Grand Rivers Herald.

We are pleased to announce in this issue Judge T. J. Morrow, of Christian county, as a candidate for the office of Circuit Judge for the 3rd Judicial district comprising the counties of Christian, Callaway, Lyon and Trigg. Judge Morrow is one of the widely known and popular men in Western Kentucky. He lived for many years in Caldwell county and practiced law there very successfully. He moved to Christian county and with the exception of five years while he was engaged in the coal business he has been practicing attorney. He was elected county judge of Christian and served with honor to himself and profit to the county. Since the end of his career as county judge he has been engaged in law practice. He owns a fine farm near Hopkinsville, but a short drive from his Hopkinsville law office. He is one of the most popular men in Christian county, and when the democrats desire to put their strongest man out they get Judge Morrow and he always pulls not only the Democratic vote but gets a generous number of votes from the ranks of his political opponents. He is a man of fine character, unimpeachable integrity, unswerving honesty and of great personal magnetism. His strength in his home county where he is best known is of sufficient evidence as to his ability as an attorney and high standing as a citizen. He is into the race a worthy man and a formidable opponent to the gentleman from Callaway, who is the only other candidate in the field. We commend Judge Morrow as being worthy of the high honor that he seeks.

Resolutions of Fiscal Court.

Whereas, we the magistrates of Christian county assembled, having learned of the death of J. A. B. Ratliff, delinquent tax collector for this county, be it

Resolved, that in the death of Mr. Ratliff the community has lost a good citizen, esteemed for his integrity, honesty, and great moral worth, and that our county has lost an efficient and valued officer, whose duties were at all times promptly, yet kindly, discharged by the deceased.

Resolved that we tender to his bereaved family our sincerest sympathy in the hour of their bereavement, and as a mark of our regard for his inestimable worth as a citizen and officer, and of our regard for his memory, we ask that these resolutions be published in the local papers of this city and that the clerk of this court spread the same upon his order book and furnish a copy to the family of the deceased.

The Colored School Building.

The colored public school will begin the first of September with four new rooms added to the building and the following list of teachers:

Prof. A. H. Payne, principal; assistants Mrs. Nora L. Payne, Mrs. Jennie L. Pool, Mrs. Lottis E. Dade, Mrs. M. F. Morgan, Miss Kittie Kinchloe, Miss Millie Davis.

The council recently appropriated $1,500 to build a much needed addition to the Second street building. The number of rooms will be increased from 6 to 10 and eight teachers will be employed, an increase of two. The building is being pushed ahead rapidly by Forbes & Bro. the contractors, and will be ready by the first of next month. The four rooms are in front of the old building, separated by an eight-foot hall.

Something New.

AROUND AND ABOUT.

NOTHING BUT NEWS FOUND IN THIS COLUMN.

A Condensed Account of the Latest Happenings Tensely Told for Busy Readers.

The Clarksville Times has this: "On the incoming train last Saturday night arrived a couple who registered at the Hotel Elkton as 'S. J. Buckner and wife Louisville,' says the Elkton Progress. Clerk Perkins at once assigned them a room and the porter showed them up. Two hours later, which was about 12 o'clock the man came down to Clerk Perkins room, awoke him, informing him that the woman and himself wished to get married. County Clerk Reeves was called up, the license procured and in the presence of a few witnesses at 12:30 Sunday morning Judge Bristow tied the knot and pocketed the fee. In answer to legal questions put by the clerk the woman said that her name was Mrs. Mary McIntyre, that she was a divorced widow and of legal age. The man answered that his name was S. J. Buckner, was of legal age and a divorced widower. Sabbath morning the bride and groom had their breakfast served them in the bridal chamber and at 9 o'clock were escorted by Liverman Bowling in a carriage to Guthrie where they said they wished to go to take the train for Hyoga Springs, Tenn. Such is romance on the full moon.

Tom Hunt killed his ten year old boy accidentally at Mud River Mines, in Muhlenberg county, Thursday evening. Hunt was dumping coal into the railroad cars, and the boy was playing in the car, and the father completely covered the child with coal before he knew it. The child lived about ten minutes after it was taken from the car.

The prohibition vote at Glasgow was certified to as 136 wets and 206 drys, after Monday's election. The drys proceeded to jubilate, but when the official count of the wet vote was found that the figures were reversed and that the wets had won by 74 majority. A legal contest may be the result.

Will C. Parrish, of Owensboro, has sued the Western Union Telegraph Co. for $1000 for delay in delivering telegrams, by which he and his wife were rupt to serious inconvenience, annoyance and expense. Mr. Parrish was sick in St. Louis.

Bob Larimore was placed in the lockup Monday at Benton and there was a nest of bumble bees in there which had built on account of non-patronage. He had to be taken out to keep the bees from stinging him to death.

Dr. G. W. Norman has withdrawn from the legislative race in Union county. There are three candidates left, Saunders, Dr. Henry and Mr. W. M. Berry. The latter is a Blackberry man.

Mound explorers on the Fox farm in Mason county have discovered in an old mound eight skeletons, each inclosed in a stone box. The finders regard them as traces of a race that antedated the Indians.

Jack Adams killed his stepbrother, Robert Capps, near Mt. Vernon. The tragedy is a sequel of the alleged attempted killing of Adams' mother by her husband, Rev. William Capps.

A short time ago in Wayne county Louis Caffey shot and killed Isaac Burnett. Thursday Burnett's thirteen-year-old daughter eloped with Caffey and married him.

The southern lines have agreed to a rate of one fare plus 10 per cent, ten days' limit, to the Atlanta Exposition, with one cent a mile rate to be sold once every ten days.

The Republicans of Crittenden and Livingston counties nominated Elder E. B. Blackburn, of Marion, for the Legislature. He is a popular Baptist minister.

Speedy justice awaits Matthew Lowe, the negro who attempted to assault a highly respected white woman near Springfield, and who was captured in Taylor county.

Jas. Adams, aged 85, was killed while running a lathe machine at Russellville. A chisel flew out and stuck in his heart. He pulled it out and then died.

At Mayfield the Bollinger block was gutted by fire entailing a loss of $50,000. City offices, clothing stores and drug stores totally destroyed.

The Caldwell county Democrats will nominate another candidate for the Legislature on Aug. 19. Dr. Amos the nominee, having withdrawn.

Rev. L. B. Duncan has accepted a challenge from H. Glazer, of the Lyon county barroom house, to preach in his saloon.

Miss Bessie Talbot, of Versailles, will sail this week for China, to become a missionary of the Presbyterian church.

C. K. Brock was killed in a fight in Harlan county between some employees of A. J. Asher and members of the Gross faction.

Little River Association.

The annual session of Little River Baptist Ass'n., at Little River church near Pee Dee, last week, met Wednesday with a large attendance. Nearly all of the churches were represented. Rev. A. W. Meacham, the former moderator, declined to accept another re-election, and Capt. W. J. Stone was thereupon elected. Rev. A. J. Sills, of Confederate, Lyon county, was again chosen clerk. The program took up about three days and each day the crowd was large. The weather was oppressively hot and the heat and dust were serious drawbacks to the pleasure of the meetings. However the exercises were interesting throughout and all who attended were heartily pleased by the people of the vicinity and the visitors were hospitably entertained in their homes. The next meeting will be at Hurricane, Trigg county.

MATRIMONIAL.

A pretty home wedding at the residence of Mr. E. P. Fears, of Hopkinsville, was that of Mr. John P. Shoemaker to Miss Mary J. Fleming on August 4th, 1895, at 3:30 p. m. The bride is one of Hopkinsville's most attractive and accomplished young ladies, while the groom is well known here and liked by all who know him. He is the oldest son of Dr. T. J. Shoemaker, of this place, and has for the past few years been in the employ of the O. V. R. Co. He has resided in Hopkinsville for some time past. We extend many good wishes and congratulations and hope their voyage through life may be one of great happiness and success.—Morningfield Sun.

TOURNAMENT SHOOT.

TWO FINE MATCHES TO BE SHOT AT HOPKINS COUNTY FAIR GROUNDS.

On the First Day of the Fair—One Match Free for All. While the other is Open only to Hopkins, Webster and McLean Counties.

[From the Madisonville Hustler.]

One of the most pleasing and exciting features of the great Fair this month, at least to every fellow who has a rusty shot gun, will be the great shooting tournaments to be given on the first day.

In the shooting tournament last year, there were forty-one entries and the shoot was fine. Earlington carried off all three of the prizes last year, but she will have to hustle this time as one of the matches is open to the world, while Webster and McLean will contest with Hopkins in the other match, and there are some very fine shots in Webster and McLean.

The official programme of the tournament is as follows:

TRAP SHOOTING

To be shot on Wednesday, August 28, the first day of the Hopkins county fair, at the fair grounds.

First match of ten clay targets from trap, thrown at unknown angles, free for all—purse $50, $25 to 1st, $15 to 2nd, $7 to 3rd, $3 to 4th.

Second match of ten clay targets, from trap thrown at unknown angles, for Hop., Webster and McLean counties only—purse $35, $20 to 1st, $10 to 2nd, $5 to 3rd.

SCULS.

Entry fee $1.00.

In each match it will take as many as twenty to enter.

To be shot as individuals.

To be shot according to the rules of the American Shooting Association for inanimate target shooting.

For further information, address S. D. Langley.

NOTE.—The first match will be called at 9 a. m., and second match at some convenient interval during the day. Entries in both matches close at 9 a. m.

TO-MORROW, AUGUST 14.

Primary Election for the City—To Name Councilmen.

At a meeting of the Democratic City Committee of Hopkinsville, held Saturday, Aug. 10, 1895, there were present all the members except J. M. Frankel from the 5th ward. W. H. Olvey was elected Chairman in the absence of the regular Chairman, Mr. Frankel. The following call was thereupon issued:

A primary election is hereby ordered to be held in each of the wards of the city of Hopkinsville to nominate Democratic candidates for City Councilmen, on Wednesday, August 14, between the hours of 8 a. m. and 4 p. m. The voting shall be by secret ballot and all Democrats who are qualified voters of the wards in which they reside, or will be at the November election, and such independent voters as will pledge themselves in good faith to support the nominees, shall be entitled to vote. Such qualified voters as do not wish to support the nominees in person may send their ballots folded so as to conceal the name and enclosed in an envelope securely sealed and endorsed on the outside "I hereby appoint— to call the enclosed ballot for me, authorizing him to have my name recorded as voting by proxy." Such proxies shall be signed in the voter's own handwriting and shall be opened by one of the judges, who shall deposit the ballot in the box without unfolding it or exposing the name thereon.

The officers shall be two judges and a clerk in each ward, the clerk to decide all questions on which the judges cannot agree. The votes shall be counted at the close of the polls and the result certified to the City Committee, which shall declare the candidates receiving the highest number of votes in each ward to be the nominees of the party.

The committeemen in the several wards shall prepare lists of officers representing all candidates as equally as possible and furnish them to the Secretary who shall announce same and prepare the necessary books and boxes and also arrange for holding the elections in each ward.

Adopted by unanimous vote.
W. H. Olvey, Ch. Fro. tem. 2nd ward.
L. H. Davis, Sec. 3rd ward.
Geo. Bradley, 4th ward.
Jno. A. Twyman, 6th ward.
J. C. Simmons, 1st ward.
W. T. Cooper, 7th ward.

HERE AND THERE.

Mr. O. D. Thompson, who has been in the furniture establishment of Jno. R. Kitchen for a year or more, has severed his connection with that house and accepted a position with Thompson & Meadow. Messrs. Thompson & Meadow have opened a furniture store adjoining their hardware store—the old Geo. O. Thompson furniture stand—and have engaged Mr. O. D. Thompson to take charge. They do not have much to boast of, as Mr. Thompson is an fair in all matters pertaining to furniture and also of the best known business men throughout this county. He is industrious and painstaking in his business, accommodating, affable and strictly honest in his dealings. In a few days he will receive and open up a very large line of furniture—anything from a kitchen set to a fine parlor suit and proposes to "do down" anything in his line, either in style or price. The opening will take place about the first of September. Mr. Thompson invites his numerous friends and acquaintances to call and see him, and assures everybody that fair dealing, low prices and elegant goods will rule at the house he takes charge of.

WANTED—Energetic man or woman to sell Mrs. Shaeffer's splendid new "Pan-Cat Grid" to families in each county in Kentucky. It BAKES THE CAKE. Satisfaction guaranteed. Send $1 for sample and liberal terms. References required. Address, Kr. GARDELCO Co., Lexington, Ky.

Rev. J. W. King, the new pastor of the C. P. church, was recently pastor of a church at Cookeville Tenn., and the Press, of that city, makes the following pleasant reference to his departure: "Two years ago Bro. King was elected to the pastorate of this church, and has since that time efficiently ministered to its wants and necessities. He came among us a stranger, but leaves us as a beloved member of the family circle. His departure is a great loss to this congregation. He is an accomplished christian minister, full of love and meekness of the blessed master. A character without spot or blemish, pure and devoted to the cause. The prayers and best wishes of all our people go with Bro. King."

We have held you in suspense nearly long enough. Look out for something stirring in a few days at Wallis' grocery, 211 Main street. Merritt's old stand.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will find the value of health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to all who have met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 5c and 31c bottles. It is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed you will not accept any substitute if offered.

For those desiring to attend the Bradley-Hardin debate the O. V. will make rate of one fare for round trip to Hopkinsville on train No. 2, Aug. 23rd.
